

My fellow Indians, the youth of this great nation carry the dreams of tomorrow. You are the innovators, the builders, the protectors of our rich culture and traditions. In your hands lies the power to transform India into a global leader in science, technology, and social development. We have made historic progress in infrastructure, digital governance, and education, but we cannot stop here.

I urge every young Indian to rise with purpose, to dream big and to strive for excellence in whatever path you choose. Let us work together to remove barriers and build a future where everyone's talent is recognized and nurtured. The New India we dream of is one that thrives on unity, discipline, and a spirit of service. Let us move forward with confidence and clarity of purpose. The world is watching, and India is ready to lead. Jai Hind!
